LEMAN expanding with new office in Charlotte, North Carolina

SIGNIFICANT GROWTH IN THE US

On 1 November, LEMAN will open its doors to the newest branch office in Charlotte, North Carolina, which will be the 8th LEMAN office in the USA. "North Carolina has one of the fastest growing populations and economies in the country, and Charlotte is a strategically important location within the industry. Furthermore, the state of North Carolina and surrounding states have significant import/export trade with both Europe and Asia," says Thomas Krøyer, CEO of the LEMAN Group.

A STRATEGIC MOVE TOWARDS EXPANDED SERVICES

After the successful opening of the LEMAN branch in Miami in 2015 and the growth in business in the southeastern part of the US over the past few years, it is a natural choice to open an office in Charlotte. "A LEMAN branch in Charlotte will strengthen our service to our existing customers in the Carolina and Virginia markets, develop new business, and provide local service to our global LEMAN offices and agent network," says Torben Ladefoged, Regional Manager Southeast US.

Mikael Olesen, CEO of LEMAN USA, adds: "With the opening of another branch in the US, we further our commitment to bring quality service and solutions to our existing and new customers in the Carolina region through our responsible business approach, ensuring the highest levels of compliance and integrity at all times."
